

Syllabus of Social Psychology

Chapter 1: Introduction and Concept of Socialization

1.1 Fundamental Contents

1.1.1 Basic introduction to social psychology.

1.1.2 Concept and impact of socialization.

1.2 Basic Requirements

1.2.1 Understand the research questions and methods of social psychology.

1.3 Recommended class Hours (6 credit hours)

Chapter 2: Key Issues in Social Psychology (1)

2.1 Fundamental Contents

2.1.1 Concept and scale of attitude.

2.1.2 Concept and impact of social cognition.

2.1.3 Stereotype and its attribution.

2.2 Basic Requirements

2.2.1 Understand and master the concepts of attitude, social cognition, and stereotype influence.

2.2.2 Can cite relevant practical examples and analyze them.

2.3 Recommended Class Hours (10 credit hours)

Chapter 3: Key Issues in Social Psychology (2)

3.1 Fundamental Contents

3.1.1 Populations and their interactions.

3.1.2 Research fields and methods of population.

3.2 Basic Requirements

3.2.1 Understand the formation and influence of groups.

3.2.2 Cite examples to analyze groups around you.

3.2.3 Classroom grouping to simulate society.

3.3 Recommended Class Hours (7 credit hours)

Chapter 4: Various Variables and Their Controls in Psychological Experimental Research

4.1 Fundamental Contents

4.1.1 Basic requirements and attention of psychological experiments.

4.1.2 Various variables and their control in psychological experiments.

4.1.3 Sources and control methods of additional variables.

4.2 Basic Requirements

4.2.1. Master research variables in psychology and their manipulation and control.

4.2.2 Understand how to control additional variables.

4.3 Recommended Class Hours (10 credit hours)

Chapter 5: Psychological Experiment Design

5.1 Fundamental Contents

5.1.1 Non-experimental and quasi-experimental design in psychological research.

5.1.2 Functions and types of real experiment design.

5.1.3 Statistical analysis method of experimental design.

5.1.4 Evaluation of psychological experiment design.

5.2 Basic Requirements

5.2.1 Master the types and characteristics of psychological experiment design.

5.2.2 According to common real experiment design, common experimental design cases can be cited to explain its characteristics and design control.

5.2.3 The group selected the topic independently, designed an experiment using an experimental design type, and studied the problem of interest.

5.3 Recommended Class Hours (15 credit hours)